

Contents

Foreword	v
Preface	vii
Authors' Biographies	xvii
Table of Cases	xxiii
Table of Legislation	xxxv
 CHAPTER 1: THE EVOLVING FLEXIBILITY OF VOYAGE CHARTERPARTIES
Professor D. Rhidian Thomas	1
Introduction	1
Load/discharge ports and the exercise of options	3
Introduction	3
Exercising the right of nomination	4
Procedural requirements	6
Time limits	6
Impossible and unlawful ports	7
Safe ports	9
No obligation of good faith	9
Nomination of berths and other places	10
The rotation question	11
Effect of breach	11
Defaults by charterers	11
Defaults by owners	13
The effect of a valid nomination	13
A contractual right to change a nomination	14
Protecting against the adverse consequences of a change of nomination	16
Nominations and the safe port promise	19
Other contractual rights to control the performance of the contracted voyage	22
Introduction	22
(a) The right to direct a vessel to proceed to a specific place to await instructions	24
(b) The right to require the vessel to stop	25
(c) The right to regulate the speed of the vessel	26
(d) The right to require the vessel to follow a prescribed route	28
(e) The right to manage cargo at sea	29
(i) Transhipment	29
(ii) Sampling	29
(iii) Co-mingling	30
(iv) Storage	31
Conflicting instructions	31
Conclusion	33

CONTENTS

CHAPTER 2: JURISDICTION AND ARBITRATION CLAUSES
Steven Gee QC
Introduction	35
Arbitration clauses: stay of proceedings	35
Changing public policies	36
Jurisdiction clauses and the Judgments Regulation	37
Incorporation by reference	39
“Agreement in writing”	39
Jurisdiction under an arbitration agreement	40
Scope of the arbitration clause and the projection of it from attacks on the main agreement	41
Anti-suit injunctions and the EC	47
CHAPTER 3: LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE APPROACH VOYAGE
Richard Lord QC
Introduction	53
Being in the right place at the right time	53
Location of vessel	54
Time of sailing	54
Expected ready to load	54
Proceeding with all convenient speed	54
Intermediate engagements	55
Safety	56
Exceptions	56
Seaworthiness	56
CHAPTER 4: THE LOADING OBLIGATIONS OF VOYAGE CHARTERERS
Dr Theodora Nikaki
Introduction	59
The preconditions for the transfer of the responsibility for the proper performance of the cargo loading and stowage to the charterers	61
The charterers’ liability for loading and stowage under FIOS and similar clauses	62
The exceptions to the charterers’ liability for improper loading and stowage	66
Who is liable for improper stowage that renders the vessels unseaworthy?	68
Conclusions	75
CHAPTER 5: THE WRECK OF THE HESPERUS REVISITED: A REVIEW OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF SEAWORTHINESS IN CONTRACTS OF AFFREIGHTMENT
Charles G.C.H. Baker
Introduction	79
Warranty of seaworthiness implied at common law	80
Nature of the warranty	82
Stowage	85

CONTENTS

Exceptions	90
Causation	92
The ISM code	94
Conclusion	95

CHAPTER 6: DANGEROUS CARGO AND "LEGALLY DANGEROUS" CARGO

Robert Gay 97

Introduction	97
Two types of concern with dangerous cargo	98
Concepts of "physically dangerous" and "legal dangerous" cargo	99
Naive versions of the two common law concepts	99
Outer boundary of the common law concepts	101
Boundary of the Hague Rules concept	103
The left-over concept of legally dangerous cargo	107
Further articulation of the definition of "legally dangerous" cargo	108
Consequences of this definition of legally dangerous cargo	110
Outstanding questions with this definition	113
Absolute liability	116
Absolute liability under the Hague Rules	116
Absolute liability at common law, and under the "leftover" principles	119
What the shipper need not say	121
Application of these points to legally dangerous cargo	125
Who is liable?	127
How will the concept of dangerous cargo develop?	131

CHAPTER 7: ARRIVAL, READINESS AND THE COMMENCEMENT OF LAYTIME

Simon Rainey QC 137

The three requirements for the commencement of laytime	137
(1) The arrival of the vessel at destination	138
(2) The readiness of the vessel to load (or to discharge)	146
(3) The giving of notice of readiness	152
Conferring subsequent validity on an originally invalid notice of readiness	156
Conclusions	159

CHAPTER 8: THE RUNNING OF LAYTIME AND DEMURRAGE WHEN A CHARTERER DOES NOT HAVE SOLE USE OF A VESSEL

Mark Hamsher 161

Introduction	161
Suspending the running of laytime and demurrage	162
Absence of any loss of use by the charterers	163
A final comment	169

CONTENTS

CHAPTER 9: LAYTIME AND DEMURRAGE CLAUSES IN CONTRACTS OF SALE – A SURVEY OF THE NEW YORK SOCIETY OF MARITIME ARBITRATORS' AWARD (1978–2008) AND ENGLISH CASE LAW
Professor Jason Chuah
An examination of English decisions	171
Indemnifying or independent clause – a matter of construction	172
A general incorporation clause	172
Observations from across the pond	181
The New York maritime arbitration system	183
Practical importance of the issue of separateness between the sale and charter demurrage/laytime clauses	183
“Presumption” of separateness and the construction of the contract	186
Preference for separateness leading to strict view on incorporation	189
Relevance of knowledge of the charterparty to the construction of the contract	190
Applying the demurrage clause as a sale term – implications	191
The sale laytime/demurrage clause in the charterparty	195
Conclusion	196
Appendix	198
 CHAPTER 10: BILLS OF LADING AND VOYAGE CHARTERS
Professor Francis Reynolds QC
Introduction	201
The interaction of the two contracts	201
The springing contract	203
Bill transferred back to charterer	204
Further transfer of the bill of lading: statutes	205
The Berge Sisar	206
East West	208
The Ythan	209
The three cases	212
Spent bills of lading	213
 CHAPTER 11: CHARTERPARTY BILLS OF LADING CARGO INTERESTS' LIABILITIES TO THE SHIPOWNER
Simon Baughen
Introduction	217
The underlying contractual matrix	217
Shipowners' claims against the voyage charterer: the effect of cesser clauses	219
Shipowners' remedies against the bill of lading holder	223
The lien on cargo	223
The lien on sub-freights	226
Personal liability under the bill of lading	228
Bills of lading incorporating the freight and demurrage provisions of a charterparty	232
Bills of lading with no express freight/demurrage provisions: implied obligations	238
Freight	328
Liability for delay during loading and discharge	241
Bills of lading and the indemnity in respect of dangerous cargo	243
The UNCITRAL Draft Convention and liabilities under charterparty bills of lading	246
Freight prepaid clausuring	248

CONTENTS

Time bar	249
Liens on cargo	249
No contracting out of shippers' obligations	250
Dangerous cargo and third parties	250
CHAPTER 12. THE BILL OF LADING CONTRACTS UNDER EUROPEAN NATIONAL LAWS (CIVIL LAW APPROACHES TO EXPLAINING THE LEGAL POSITION OF THE CONSIGNEE UNDER BILLS OF LADING
Professor Frank G.M. Smeele	251
Introduction	251
Transfer of bill of lading to third party acting in good faith	253
Conclusive evidence rule	254
Problem areas	256
Scope of this comparative study	257
Position of the consignee under a contract of carriage and under a bill of lading contract	258
Principles of European Contract Law (PECL) and UNIDROIT Principles	259
Civil law approaches	262
German Law	262
Contract of carriage	262
Bill of lading contract	266
French law	268
Dutch law	272
CHAPTER 13: COMPARATIVE OBSERVATIONS ON UNITED STATES LAW AND PRACTICE RELATING TO VOYAGE CHARTERS
LeRoy Lambert	281
Two systems divided by a common law	281
Sources of "United States law" relating to voyage charterparties	282
United States maritime law	283
Maritime arbitration awards as a source of "law"	283
Voyage charters	284
"Subjects"	285
Brokers' commission claims	286
Safe ports and berths	287
Miscellaneous issues	287
Recoverability of attorneys' fees by the prevailing party	288
Conclusion
CHAPTER 14: THE IMPACT OF DEVIATION ON CONTRACTS OF AFFREIGHTMENT
Professor Richard Williams	289
Introduction	289
The development of the law relating to deviation	290
The present conundrum	295

CONTENTS

(a) The true juridical basis of the deviation cases is the "ordinary law of contract" relating to breach of condition and repudiation	296
(i) Does the breach terminate the contract automatically or only if the innocent party elect to terminate it?	298
(ii) Does the termination take effect (a) ab initio , or (b) as from the moment of the deviation, or (c) if the election is relevant, from the moment that the election is exercised?	298
(b) The deviation cases may be explained with reference to the interaction of traditional contractual construction rules which have a particular resonance in relation to the carriage of goods by sea	300
(i) The "deemed" cause role	301
(ii) The "deemed intention" rule	302
(iii) The actual intention rule	304
Resumé	305
Conclusion	306
CHAPTER 15: CANCELLATION CLAUSES AND REPUDIATORY BREACH
Professor Michael Furmston	307
Introduction	307
General principles	307
Application to voyage charterparties	309
Smith v Dart	309
Mode of cancellation	309
Premature cancellation by the charterer	310
Repudiatory breach	311
Appendix	313
CHAPTER 16: FRUSTRATION IN VOYAGE CHARTERS – SILTED-UP BACKWATER OR VITAL NAVIGATIONAL RESOURCE?
Professor Andrew Tettenborn	317
Overview: what can frustrate a voyage charter?	317
(a) The loss or unavailability of the chartered vessel	318
(b) Difficulties with the route, the cargo, or the load or delivery port	319
(i) The route	319
(ii) The cargo	320
(iii) The port	321
(c) Danger	322
(d) Delay	322
The limitations on frustration	323
(a) The difficulty of showing frustration	323
(b) Other doctrines give the same result as frustration, but more easily	324
(c) Frustration is merely a default rule	325
(d) The self-inducement rule	328
(e) Frustration, the prepaid freight rule, pro rata freight and the Law Reform (Frustration Contracts) Act 1943	328
(i) Prepaid freight	328
(ii) Pro rata freight	329
When does frustration matter?	330

CONTENTS

(a) Ancillary obligations in relation cargo or ship	330
(b) One case of advance freight	331
(c) Periodical sums	331
(d) Frustration and damages	333
Conclusion	334
 APPENDICES	 335
Voyage Charterparties
1. Gencon (As Revised 1994)	337
2. AMWELSH 93	341
3. SYNACOMEX 2000	353
4. ASBATANKVOY	359
5. BPVOY 4 Charterparty	365
6. SHELLVOY 6 Charterparty	397
Bills of Lading
7. CONGENBILL (Edition 1994)	419
8. BP Tank Ship Bill of Lading	421
9. Intankbill 2003	423
 Index	 425